Introduction – The Central Victoria Academy Program

AFL Central Victoria Junior/Youth Academy - 2018

In 2016 AFL Central Victorian Commission commenced an elite development program for young netballers from across the region.

The players invited into the Academy receive a weekly elite level training program. Approximately 20 athletes are selected in each age group.

In 2018 a specialist program will be ran again for 14 year old players who will be selected in either shooting, centre court or defence. The program will focus on improving specialist skills both as an individual and within a unit. The 14 year old players will train weekly on Monday after school.

We will continue to provide a program for 12 year old and 13 year old players who will train weekly on Wednesday after school.

Objectives of the Junior Academy Program

- Increase the depth of talent within the region through exposing more players to a higher level of training, participation and coaching
- Increase the standard of competition within the various junior leagues through upskilling players, giving them confidence to play at a higher standard of competition
- Develop an elite talent pathway
- Complement association programs
- Influence the on-field behaviour and values of young players

AFL Central Victoria Academy Philosophy

Academy Philosophy:

Young participants play netball for a variety of reasons but primarily for fun, enjoyment and a sense of team. It is a privileged position to assist young players to achieve these goals. This is not a role to be taken lightly as their experience at your junior netball club or in the case of the AFL Central Victoria Academy will have a strong bearing on whether or not they will have the confidence and skill to progress at some time in the future.

The Coaching Philosophy at the AFL Central Victoria Academy is about player development and enjoying the process of this development. We must continue to build upon these foundations through maintaining a positive and enjoyable learning environment at all times.

Team sports have long been recognized for their ability to help mould the values and work ethic of young people for future years. Whether or not children continue to play team sport as an adult, it is often the lessons they learn about team work as a young participant in sport that stands them in good stead for the workplace and life in general.

It helps teach the importance of never giving up irrespective of the circumstances, always striving for one's personal best.

As a region we define success not necessarily in our win/loss ratio, but in the endeavours of our players and the support structures that clubs put in place around each of their teams. We define success in terms of skill mastery as well as making a contribution to the broader personal development of our players.

AFL Central Victoria Academy goals are for each player to exit our academy program a better player and a better person!
